LATIN NATIONS
ASK REGIONAL
PEACE PACTSCONFERENCE WORKS
DAY AND NIGHT TO FINISH CHARTER

BY DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

San Francisco, May 14 (AP)—Nine Latin American foreign ministers were reported to have reached general agreement with Secretary of State Stettinius today on how to fit a regional security system into a world organization.

The proposal under consideration, offered by the American delegation, would provide for collective regional action to repel armed attack if the world organization's security council failed to bring about a peaceful settlement of an international dispute.

Compromise Studied

The nine Latin American diplomats left a meeting with Stettinius to confer with their colleagues representing other western hemisphere countries. The same group arranged to meet with Stettinius later in the day (9 p. m. PWT) to give him their final answer.

The agreement, on general principles, apparently had not yet been reduced to final language. There were said to be five or six tentative drafts, some specifically mentioning the inter-American mutual defense agreement embodied in the act of Chapultepec.

The nine diplomats calling on Stettinius were from Mexico, Cuba, Chile, Brazil, Peru, Colombia, Uruguay, Venezuela and Bolivia.

For two big reasons, the question of regional security systems has assumed important proportions in the San Francisco conference.

It is a comparatively minor point of difference between the United States and Britain.

It is the issue above all others on which the 20 Latin-American nations are determined to obtain satisfaction—and they have almost a majority of votes in the conference.

In the Monroe Doctrine, the Pan-American Union and the Act of Chapultepec signed last March at Mexico City, the Latin and the United States have worked out what they regard as a highly efficient method of guaranteeing peace in the western hemisphere. They do not want to see it scrapped.

That has raised the fundamental problem of whether world security is to be preserved through a series of regional systems or through a world organization.

Hard Coal Shortage
Hits Eastern States

Washington, May 14 (AP)—Secretary of the Interior Ickes tonight imposed emergency controls on the delivery of anthracite to consumers in 12 Eastern states to meet a critical fuel shortage caused by the two weeks' stoppage of mining.

Ickes, acting as solid fuels administrator, forbade retail dealers, wholesalers and tidewater dock operators to deliver anthracite to any consumer having more than five days' supply of usable solid fuels on hand.

Affected are all the New England states, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, the District of Columbia, the counties of Fairfax and Arlington in Virginia and the city of Alexandria, Va.

Doolittle Leaves
Eighth Air Force;
Tokyo Job Hinted

London, May 14 (AP)—Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle, who led the war's first bombing blow at Tokyo and then directed the U. S. Eighth Air Force in its victorious blasting of Germany, turned over his European command to a colleague today amid immediate speculation that he would return to the Pacific conflict.

An official announcement from the U. S. strategic air force in Europe said only that Doolittle would return to Washington headquarters of the U. S. army air forces "for a new assignment" but in his final press conference here Friday the famous speed flier showed his thoughts were centered now on the Japanese.

"So far as Japan is concerned, our basic strategy will be weakening the enemy from the air to enable occupation of the land by ground forces," he explained, adding that the burden of bombing Japan would be carried by the B-29 Superforts with B-17 Fortresses and B-24 Liberators employed as medium bombers.

Part of the Eighth Air Force he headed will go directly to the Pacific although considerable numbers will be kept in the European theater as part of the Allied occupational air force and others will return to the United States for reassignment.

Started As Private

Doolittle was succeeded as Eighth Air Force commander by Maj. Gen. William E. Kepner, one of America's most distinguished aeronautical experts.

Known as a pioneer in work with zeppelins and for balloon ascensions into the stratosphere, the 52-year-old Kepner has been commander of the Eighth Air Force's Second Bomber Division.

Doolittle at 48 is one of the nation's best known fliers—one whose name was familiar to millions long before he personally led the raid on Tokyo April 18, 1942.

He started his army career as a private in 1917 and reached his present rank of lieutenant general the hard way.

In 1940 he helped gear American factories for plane production, then went to England on a special mission to study air warfare.

He came back to lead the Tokyo attack by B-25 Mitchell medium bombers which took off from a carrier. This feat won for him the Congressional Medal of Honor.

Doolittle took command of the Eighth Air Force in January 1944, and his achievements during the final assault on Germany have been credited even by leading enemy commanders as one of the chief reasons for the swift and crushing defeat of the Nazi armies.

GANGLAND TRIO
TO FACE TRIALDetroiters Bound Over
In Sen. Hooper Murder
Conspiracy

Battle Creek, Mich., May 14 (AP)—Three Detroit underworld characters were bound over tonight to stand trial in Calhoun county circuit court on charges of conspiracy to murder the late State Senator Warren G. Hooper.

Justice of the Peace W. H. Bibb remanded the trio, Harry Fleischer, his brother, Sam, and Mike Selik, described by state police as former members of Detroit's Purple gang, to jail.

The examination of a fourth defendant, Pete Mahoney, a small-time gambler, was continued until tomorrow.

The justice's decision followed a three-day examination of the four defendants accused of plotting to kill the legislator, a key witness in the Circuit Judge Leland W. Carr one-man grand jury investigation of corruption in Michigan government.

Hooper was shot to death January 11 in his automobile on a lonely stretch of highway near Springport while en route from Lansing to his home in Albion.

Trieste To Remain
In Allied Control,
Tito Is Informed

London, Tuesday, May 15 (AP)—A British spokesman said today the United States and Britain had informed Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia that Trieste would remain under Allied control until its status was settled by the peace conference.

This view has been communicated to the Yugoslav government in Belgrade in an atmosphere of frankness and friendship, this source said, adding that the Soviet government had been kept informed.

TAX ON LIQUOR
STARTS JUNE 1Governor Kelly Signs
Bill Calling For
10 Percent Levy

Lansing, May 14 (AP)—The 10 per cent tax on the sale of alcoholic liquors, passed by the 1945 legislature as a partial solution to the financial needs of local municipalities, became law today when it was signed by Governor Kelly.

The liquor control commission said it hopes to have the tax in effect by June 1, and estimated that it would increase the bottle price of liquors between 19 and 39 cents.

The tax is expected to yield approximately $3,000,000, to be distributed to counties, cities and villages on a population basis. The money going to counties will be allocated on the basis of mileage of roads taken over under the McNitt law, and will be used by the county road commissions for maintenance and improvement of these roads.

The act was given immediate effect by the legislature and will expire in two years.

The tax was originally planned to yield $10,000,000 annually, but the anticipated revenue was cut when the legislature exempted beer and wine from the tax.

The only other direct aid the legislature granted communities was the increased revenue from the revised intangible tax law, expected to give approximately $6,500,000 for distribution to municipalities.

Two AP Newsmen
Discredited For
Beat On Surrender

Paris, May 14 (AP)—Supreme headquarters discredited Edward Kennedy of the Associated Press today on a charge of breach of confidence in breaking prematurely the story of Germany signing term of unconditional surrender and ordered him to leave May 17 for the United States.

Morton P. Gudebrod of the Associated Press also was discredited for taking "an active part in the premature release of a news story" and ordered to return to the United States, but was granted an extension beyond May 17 by Brig. Gen. Frank Allen, Jr., chief of public relations.

Gudebrod is ill with pneumonia and is not expected to be discharged from a hospital for two weeks.

Robert Bunnelle, managing executive for the United Kingdom for the Associated Press, was reinstated.

Bunnelle, with headquarters in London, had been suspended as a war correspondent in the European theater during the investigation because Kennedy's dispatch passed through the London bureau of the AP.

Allen noted in a statement that "the Associated Press has published its profound regrets for distribution of the story in advance of its authorization."

"With this statement," Allen said, "this regrettable incident is considered as closed by supreme headquarters."

SNOW IN COLORADO

Denver, Colo., May 14 (AP)—A six-inch snowfall was reported tonight at Cripple Creek, Colo., and the U. S. weather bureau said snow or light rain was falling over a general area from the Rocky mountains eastward to the plains states.

The weather bureau had reports of snow in western Nebraska and the Cheyenne sector of Wyoming.

BATTLE STILL
OKINAWA LINEAIRSTRIP TAKEN;
BALETE PASS ON LUZON SECURED

Guam, Tuesday, May 15 (AP)—American doughboys, sweeping ahead 2,400 yards on the east coast of embattled Okinawa, captured the Yonabaru airstrip yesterday.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz' communique today reported also that the 96th Infantry Division's 383rd Regiment completed capture of Conical Hill, important height before the fortress city of Shuri.

Yanks still were at the edge of the business district of bomb-blasted Naha, capital of the Ryukyu Island.

Stiff fighting still was in progress all along the Okinawa line. The 2,400-yard surge by the 96th was the only sizable advance. Doughboys and marines in other sectors gained only 100 to 200 yards.

Invasion Fleet Attacked

Japanese aircraft again pounced on the American invasion fleet off Okinawa Sunday evening, causing some damage to two light surface units. Twenty-five planes were shot down, eight of them by destroyers' guns.

Enemy aircraft bombed installations ashore on Okinawa on Monday but failed to cause material damage.

U. S. carrier task forces were attacked by Japanese planes on Monday, and one ship was reported damaged. Twenty-one Japanese planes were shot down in this raid.

Yonabaru airfield was the third major airfield on the Okinawa mainland seized by the Yanks. They took the Katena and Yontan fields shortly after the April 1 invasion. Later a large airfield on Ie Island nearby was secured.

A prime objective of the southward push is the Naha airfield, about two miles south of Naha. This is the largest airfield in the entire Ryukyu chain.

British In Action

Heavy gunfire by snips of the Pacific fleet and bombing and strafing attacks on enemy positions by carrier and land-based planes closely supported the ground operations.

Since Okinawa was invaded the Tenth army has captured or destroyed 386 enemy guns of 70 millimeter caliber or larger.

British carrier planes bombed airfields on Mikayo Island in the Sakishima group of the southern Ryukyus on Saturday and Sunday, hitting buildings, dumps and other targets at Hirata town. A large oil fire was started. Two Japanese planes were destroyed on the ground.

Fleet patrol planes again penetrating waters around Korea sank a small oiler, a medium sized freighter and a small freighter-transport on Sunday. Another medium sized freighter-transport was damaged and left burning.

Sheriff Ferris E. Lucas said that Monroe admitted robbing the cab driver, using a wooden gun as a weapon.

Examination was set for Monday and the defendant was remanded to jail when he failed to furnish a $3,000 bond.

Lakes Fleet Ready
For Biggest Season;
Seamen Are Needed

Washington, May 14 (AP)—The Great Lakes fleet is ready for what may be its biggest shipping season, War Manpower Commission Paul V. McNutt said today.

McNutt added that several thousand more seamen and unskilled workers will be needed for the more than 460 vessels plying the Great Lakes this year, carrying iron ore, grain and other essential war traffic.

Eisenhower Cracks
Down On Pampering
Of Big Shot Nazis

(By The Associated Press)

London, May 14—General Eisenhower cracked down sharply on senior American officers for their reported friendly treatment of high German war prisoners today after the British press expressed hot indignation at the "sheer impertinence" of Nazi leaders and German officers since Germany's surrender.

"We have got to watch these Germans," the London Evening News warned. "Unless we are very careful, they are going to get away with it again."

Eisenhower said: "My attention has been called to press reports of instances of senior United States officers treating captured Nazi and high German officials on a friendly enemy basis. Any such incident has been in direct violation of my express and long standing orders."

"Drastic measures have been set in motion to assure termination of these errors forthwith. "Moreover," Eisenhower continued, "any past instances of this nature are by no means indicative of the attitude of this army, but are results of faulty judgment of individuals concerned, who will be personally acquainted with expressions of my definite disapproval."

In the name of this great force and on my own, I regret these occurrences."

While Eisenhower did not single out any officer for public censure, it was recalled that when Reichsmarshal Herman Goering surrendered to the U. S. Seventh army last week at Kitzbuehl in Austria he was treated with considerable deference.

An Associated Press field dispatch said the former head of the Luftwaffe was given a lunch of chicken and peas in a hotel parlor after "brief greetings and a handshake" and later posed for pictures with Maj. John E. Dahlquist, commander of the 26th Division, and with Brig. Gen. Robert J. Stack, assistant division commander.

A Paris radio carried a report, unconfirmed at Allied headquarters, that an unidentified American officer of high rank had dinner with Goering on at least one occasion since the latter's capture. Eisenhower said all the information he had came from press reports.

The handling of Goering aroused a storm of indignation in London, where the News-Chronicle declared that "Herman Goering is an evil, cruel murderer to whom justice must be done. Because he is fat he is not kind."

Concern was expressed openly that Nazi leaders and Prussian generals in Allied hands might create a postwar issue. So far there had been no public announcement by the Allied governments on how German leaders were to be treated, other than broad declarations that war criminals would be brought to trial.

The United States war crime commission has acted cautiously, keeping secret the names of persons they have listed for trial.

There is considerable talk that Himmler recently got in touch with Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz and asked his protection, but was told that if the Germans found him he would be turned over to the Allies.

British officers say they have nothing but rumors to go on, but the police gave the impression they definitely believed some of them. The reports have been too persistent and jibe too well to be overlooked.

Essential Troops
Sent To Pacific;
Get No Discharges

BY AUSTIN BEALMEAR

Paris, May 14 (AP)—Some American troops are considered so essential that they are being sent direct to the Pacific regardless of the points they have accumulated for discharge, it was disclosed today.

These units were marked for duty in the war against Japan even before redeployment day May 12, said Lt. Col. W. C. Hay of the redeployment plans branch in the European theater of operations.

Hay reported that most of the men now being discharged in the United States because they have a point total of 85 were overseas veterans who had been sent home for rest.

Names of those retained despite their scores will be submitted to headquarters by the boards with reasons for their retention.

While all American soldiers who have been prisoners will be returned to the United States, it will be up to the war department whether they will be discharged or redeployed, Hays said.

Rations Increased
On Passenger Tires
For Civilian Cars

BY STERLING F. GREEN

Washington, May 14 (AP)—A 50 per cent increase in rations of passenger tires for civilians this month was authorized today, but a slackening in the pace of reconversion became apparent.

The War Production Board released 500,000 more tires for rationing by OPA in May, bringing total distribution of 1,500,000. Spokesmen for both agencies indicated another increase about as large may be expected for June.

However, even the June increase, if it is approved, would be insufficient to provide new tires for A-card motorists, officials said, in view of the big backlog of unsatisfied demand from more essential users.

OVER 1,230,000
NAZIS GIVE UPDie-Hard Resistance In Czechoslovakia Ended
By Soviet Roundup

London, May 14 (AP)—Moscow announced tonight that more than 1,230,000 Nazis had surrendered to the Red army since Germany's unconditional surrender.

The broadcast Russian communique, which totaled exactly 57 words, credited the figure on the number of captives to the Soviet information bureau.

This was in increase of 170,000 prisoners over the total announced yesterday.

Moscow said that in the roundup of German troops, 101 generals had been taken prisoner.

The communique implied that all resistance had ceased in Czechoslovakia, but gave no indication that Field Marshal von Schaefer or Col. Gen. Woeher, who led the prolonged fighting there, had yet been captured.

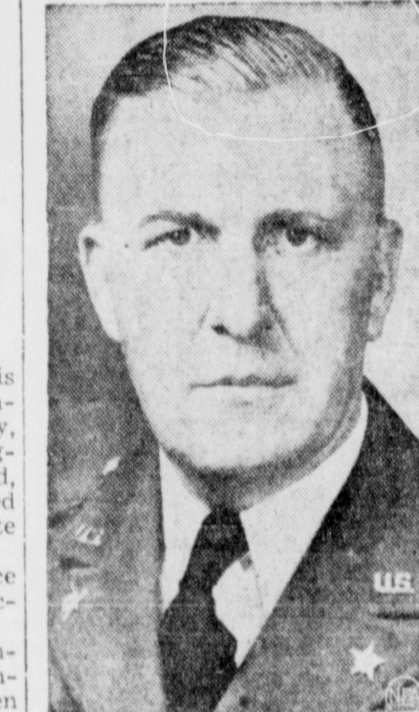

The day's enemy roundup swelled to 3,030,000 the total Germans killed or captured since the Red army launched its spring offensive January 12. By Moscow's count, 12,770,000 enemy troops have been slain or captured in almost four years of war on the eastern front.

Trial Of Quisling
As Plain Criminal
Ordered By Prince

Oslo, May 14 (AP)—Crown Prince Olav, who returned to Oslo yesterday, has directed that Vidkun Quisling, puppet premier of Norway during the German occupation, be tried as an ordinary criminal, it was learned today.

Olav was reported to have issued his order in his capacity as Norway's highest justice official. Quisling will appear before a police court for a preliminary hearing. Some authoritative sources said today that the preliminary hearing will get under way immediately, but the report was not confirmed by Oslo's police chief or the court before which the erstwhile dictator will appear.

Only official visitors have been permitted entry to Quisling's cell and Police President Henrik Meyers has directed that no favors shall be granted the Norwegian Nazi chieftain.

CHINESE CLOSE
IN ON PAOCHINGNipponese Push Proves
Disaster; Troops
Enter Foochow

BY SPENCER MOOSA

Chungking, May 14 (AP)—Two Chinese columns closed today on Paoching, Hunan province stronghold from which the enemy marched last month on the road to defeat and disaster in the battle for Chihkiang air base.

On the eastern seaboard, Chinese troops fought on through the streets of Foochow after entering the old treaty port opposite Formosa Friday.

In the Hunan counteroffensive, the Chinese high command said one column Sunday reached a point 15½ miles northwest of Paoching, while another was pounding down the main highway 19 miles west of the city.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek in an order of the day commended the American and Chinese air forces for their help in smashing the Japanese drive in Hunan province, long a central China battlefield.

Even as he spoke, the Chinese ground forces were mopping up the battlefield east of Chihkiang, which is 250 miles southeast of Chungking, and the air forces were raking the enemy's supply lines in eastern Hunan.

With the vanishing Japanese air force unable to offer resistance, Allied planes roved unhindered over enemy communication lines, strafing ground troops, supply lines and river shipping.

The warplanes struck shipping on the Siang river all the way from the eastern Hunan railway city to Hengyang—75 miles east of Paoching—on for 150 miles northward through the provincial capital of Changsha to Tung Ting Lake.

Weather conditions were not too good for the 3,300-mile daylight mission but the bombardiers turned loose their deadly cargoes visually at medium altitude. The general area hit is just west of the sprawling Mitsubishi aircraft engine works which was almost completely wrecked in earlier raids.

Highly industrialized Nagoya is also an important railroad, highway and sea shipping center. About 90 per cent of its houses are of wood and plaster construction.

It is a fairly safe bet that this most concentrated incendiary attack of the Pacific war will be followed by even greater raids in the future.

Steel Makers Say
They Will Be Ready
For New Car Output

BY DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

Detroit, May 14 (AP)—The steel industry will be ready with the type of raw material needed by the automobile manufacturers whenever the car makers are ready to resume passenger automobile production, according to Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the United States Steel Corporation.

Fairless told a press conference today, however, that "the price of course, will have to go up substantially—perhaps $6 to $8 a ton on carbon steel products."

(Several car manufacturers have predicted post war automobiles will cost 20 to 25 per cent more than their pre-war counterparts.)

Fairless said the steel industry has "no great reconversion problem," and will be able to supply the automobile manufacturers within 24 hours after both industries are authorized to produce for civilian uses.

The War Production Board has indicated the go-ahead signal to the car industry may be expected not later than July 1.

United States Steel, Fairless said, had no plans to build new plants at the back door of the car industry and was not worried over the possibility that aluminum might replace some steel tonnage in post war automobile manufacture.

GREAT NAGOYA
FACTORY AREA
7,000,000 POUNDS
OF FIRE BOMBS

By James Lindsley

Guam, Tuesday, May 15 (AP)—The fury of America's aerial assault on Japan mounted to a new pinnacle of violence Monday as a record pack of 500 mighty Superfortresses dumped 7,000,000 pounds of fire bombs on the great industrial city of Nagoya.

In contrast with the enemy's claim of shooting down eight Superfortresses, 20th air force headquarters at Washington reported that only "two of our planes were lost to enemy action." This was a minute percentage of the number engaged in the attack.

The devastating attack, directed against some of Japan's most important war industries, was officially reported by B-29 headquarters only a few hours before radio Tokyo said waves of Allied carrier planes were hammering Nippon's southern airdromes for the second day in a row.

Defense Weak

Some of the 5,500 Yank airmen who took part in the Nagoya mission, hardest aerial blow ever thrown against Japan, said on their return to Marianas bases they believed the 3,500 tons of fire bombs dropped destroyed the sections of the city not devastated in previous raids.

TAX ALLOCATION WORK STARTED Budget Statements Must Be Complete, Units Are Advised

The Delta county tax allocation commission met yesterday in organization session, elected County School Commissioner C. P. Titus chairman, and began work on the establishment of tax rates for governmental units of the county under the 15-mill tax limitation law.

Titus was nominated on motion of Helmer J. Skogquist of Gladstone and was unanimously elected without opposition. The meeting was called and opened by County Clerk J. Theodore Ohlen, clerk of the commission.

Members of the commission besides Titus are County Treasurer Robert C. Pryal and Supervisor Harold Gustafson, chairman of the county board's finance committee; Mr. Skogquist of Gladstone; C. M. Peterson, member of the Escanaba board of education, and Peter N. Logan, Escanaba city councilman.

The commission had before it the budget statements from some of the townships. Most of these were incompletely filled out, particularly in the columns for reporting township revenues.

The clerk was instructed to send each township clerk a notice that reports must be complete and that the annual statement also be mailed to the clerk by May 18.

Chairman Titus as county school commissioner said that he would make a similar request from the township school boards.

It is the responsibility of the tax allocation commission to set millage rates for townships, school districts and the county. Last year the city schools were allocated 7.9 mills, the county 7.9 mills. Townships and their school districts divide 7.0 mills. One-tenth of one mill goes to the cities of Escanaba and Gladstone.

His Hamburger Had Everything; Lansing Meat Dealer Is Held

Lansing, May 14 (AP)—Municipal Judge Marvin J. Salmon today bound over Benny Nasser, 33, Lansing meat dealer, for trial in Ingham county circuit court on charges of possessing adulterated and misbranded meat.

Judge Salmon denied the request of Bernard Pierce, defense attorney, for a more thorough cross-examination of prosecution witnesses. Completion of the examination had been delayed for more than a week at Pierce's request, who had indicated he might present evidence or briefs in his client's behalf.

Hasser is charged on a warrant accusing him of "having in possession with intent to sell for human consumption as ground beef, commonly known as hamburger steak, certain articles of adulterated and misbranded foods, to-wit: 52 barrels of a certain mixture containing ground meat, tongue, lips, snouts, salivary glands, spinal cords, liver, dirt, hair and cows' feed" in violation of state pure food laws.

Not Innerspring, But Inner Tube

Somewhere in the Pacific (AP)—Marines on this island, needing furniture, found that an empty K-ration box can be made into a comfortable camp stool, a writing table, or a makeshift trunk. Even old inner tubes are used for making "slingshot" beds, on a frame of four-by-fours with "springs" made of woven strips of rubber, four inches wide. Possessors of slingshot beds insist nothing in the Pacific can match their sleeping comfort.

More Acts Added To Mother Frolics

Three acts have been added to the Mather high school frolics, making 15 altogether. The program will not be unduly long, however, as the performance will be continuous without any tiring waits. The time is tonight. The performance begins promptly at 8:15.

There will be music, singing, dancing, comedy, and acrobatics. The old favorites will be back, and there are a number of new and novel features, including a roller skating act that is a thriller.

As good as the Frolics have been in past years, it is expected that this year's edition will excel all previous efforts if only because of the incentive to win the three cash prizes offered by the Hi-Y Club for the best act, the most comical act and the most original act.

division fought an intense battle with stubborn and well-armed Japanese in a showdown fight near captured Davao city. Six banzai charges in company strength were beaten off Saturday and Sunday.

Conquest of Balet Pass, gateway to the extensive Cagayan valley, represented a long stride toward the final cleaning out of the Japanese on northern Luzon. The pass controls the only road from the south into the Cagayan valley, hub of Japanese strength.

Columns Near Juncture

The 32nd division aided the capture of Balet Pass, flanking the enemy on the parallel Villa Verde trail. The two columns were within two miles of a juncture at Santa Fe, where the trail joins the main road at the entrance to the valley.

East of Manila the 43rd infantry division was closing in on the surrounded Japanese garrison at the Ipo dam, source of more than one-third of the capital's water.

Fighters and bombers dropped 250 tons of explosives in support of the Luzon ground actions.

On Mindanao, guerrilla forces have seized the port of Cagayan, capital of Misamis Oriental province, and the entire north coast of the island now is in American hands, MacArthur announced.

On Tarkaan Island, off Borneo, Australian and Dutch Indies troops scored local gains in desultory fighting. Minor Japanese counter-attacks were repulsed in the center and eastern sectors.

Borneo's air bases and supply facilities were heavily bombed. Coastal patrols sank eight cargo ships, nine barges and other small craft offshore.

Australian troops have penetrated three miles inland from captured Wewak on New Guinea and were attacking enemy positions near the Sauri villages.

Mighty 7th War Loan Drive Gets Off To Big Start

BY MAX HALL

Washington, May 14 (AP)—America swung into its 14-billion-dollar "Mighty 7th" war loan today with Ted Gamble, the man directing it, declaring: "Never have we gotten a drive off to a better start."

The war finance director told reporters this doesn't mean that management is better—"it means that all of the things we hoped would take place in the way of co-operation throughout the country have taken place."

No sales figures were available on this first day of the seven-week campaign which ends June 30. The quota for individuals is $7,000,000,000, the highest yet. Of this $2,500,000,000 must come from payroll deductions, which count toward the drive over a three-month period from April 9 through July 7.

Major emphasis of the Seventh War Loan is on crushing Japan but the money to be borrowed must be used for more than mere physical weapons to mop up the Pacific. War aims will continue to be needed for the armies in Europe for many months. There is also the question of drawing as much of the money as possible from individuals for the sake of the over-all economy.

Young Vandals Break Windows

Several hundred windows were broken during the weekend in buildings at the new ore dock project site, apparently the work of youthful vandals, Escanaba Police Chief M. F. Ettenhofer reported yesterday.

"Persons who have information which will assist the police in identifying those who broke the windows are asked to telephone that information to the police station," Chief Ettenhofer said. "Our investigation will continue and we hope to apprehend those who are responsible for the destruction."

The Pacific Reporter

By Associated Press

BY HAROLD STREETER

Hollandia, Dutch New Guinea, (AP)—Col. Ray T. Elmore, who dispatched the plane which flew Gen. Douglas MacArthur from the Philippines to Australia in the critical days of 1942, has his post-war project already picked out. He's going to Shangri-la in a glider. And he expects to encounter head hunters.

Shangri-la is an almost fabulous place—a hidden valley where for centuries long-haired, giant natives have lived in little walled communities, close by neatly tilled fields, warring on each other with spears and maintaining sentinels atop tall poles to be on guard for approach of a foe.

No Whites There

No white man, so far as is known, ever has set foot in Shangri-la. And its natives, who practice crop rotation and irrigation and raise hogs of enormous size, have never been outside its 20 mile length and four mile width. Colonel Elmore, whose swiftly built air bases in the Southern Philippines at the war's outset slowed up the Japanese in overrunning that Archipelago, wants to be with the first expedition to visit the place. He already has other distinctions, including the evacuation by his planes of some of the American nurses from Corregidor. He was in the last plane to fly out of the Philippines.

The valley of Shangri-la lies 150 miles southwest of Hollandia in a spot inaccessible except by air. Colonel Elmore, now commanding the 32nd troop carrier wing, happened on it in the heart of the Oranje mountains in the spring of 1944 while surveying a proposed air service route from Australia to the northeast coast of Dutch New Guinea.

The 52 year old colonel since has photographed and observed virtually every mile during weekly flights. A group of American war correspondents were taken over the hidden valley for an aerial visit of nearly an hour by the colonel, flying his own two-engine Lockheed Lodestar. And what a flight!

We winged over mile on mile of impenetrable, unexplored jungles going up more than 12,000 feet to get some of the mountains. Then the enthusiastic colonel, who has around 16,000 (correct) hours in the air to his credit, snuggled the plane down between two mountain walls and threaded it through a narrow canyon.

We saw where a stream entered one side of a mountain and came out the other side. We saw a huge natural mountain tunnel. We looked down into a deep hole gouged out of a rocky floor. Then we passed into the hidden valley of Shangri-la.

From well up, a native working in a field was clearly seen, suggesting his height. As we flew lower, one of those mammoth hogs scurried for shelter and native children raced wildly into their odd homes—which look like mushrooms. The adult natives

Mountain Sides Terraced

Walls, the work of years, extend all over the valley and up the mountain slopes. Terraced and cultivated mountain sides attest to prodigious labor.

Some walled communities are atop plateaus, others on the slopes, others in the valley. Many are miles from any other settlement, but they are walled. Some observers in the plane thought the mountain slope settlements looked neater, indicating a more industrious and progressive element. The women appear to wear the scantiest garb, the men none. Frightened sentinels were seen hastily clambering down their observation poles.

After the war, Colonel Elmore, whose family lives at Menlo Park, Calif., wants to go into the valley with a party aboard gliders, fully equipped with bargaining trinkets—also weapons if they won't bargain—food and the necessary material for swiftly setting up an airstrip so that transport planes can follow in.

The Colonel's ambition is to unlock the secrets of a strange people—and keep his head in the process.

Goiter Is Reduced By Iodized Salt

"Most children living in Michigan today have smooth throats thanks to the general use of iodized salt." This statement was made by Dr. William DeKleine, State Commissioner of Health, in recognition of the fact that iodized salt is "of age" this month.

It was 21 years ago this May that iodine was added to common salt in Michigan and put on grocery shelves. At that time there were areas in the state where more than half of the children had simple goiter, Doctor DeKleine said.

Simple goiter is an enlargement of the thyroid gland caused by a lack of iodine in the diet. Michigan is in one of the goiter belts of the world—areas whose soil and water are unusually low in iodine content.

The Michigan Department of Health and the State Medical Society worked together to find some way of getting iodine into the diet of all the people. It was agreed that ideally the iodine should be carried in some essential, inexpensive, household item which everyone used. Salt answered these requirements and the salt manufacturers agreed to cooperate and offer a packaged salt which was iodized.

Since then simple goiter has been almost wiped out in Michigan, Doctor DeKleine said, but he urged parents to remember that Michigan children still need iodized salt. "Without it we can expect the high proportion of goiter that we had 21 years ago," he said.

Richard Gatling, inventor of the Gatling machine gun, believed that his invention would make wars more humane.

Japs Inflict Casualties

THE struggle for Okinawa has been marked by the fiercest fighting in the Pacific area, the latest report revealing that the fanatical Japanese have already inflicted more than 16,000 casualties.

Of this number more than 2,000 American soldiers have been killed on Okinawa, a sizeable toll even though the enemy has suffered much heavier losses. Suicidal plane attacks by the Japs also have caused considerable damage to our naval craft, and there is mounting evidence that they are willing to risk annihilation, if only for the purpose of making the Allies pay dearly for the victory they are destined to win.

Our forces will accelerate their progress in the Pacific war zone from now on, but it would be a mistake to return to the pre-war action that we should be able to wipe Japan off the face of the earth in six weeks. There is still hard fighting ahead in Asia, and correspondingly there must be hard work and sacrifice at home.

Postwar Jobs

MANY American communities are worrying about the problem of providing jobs for the returning veterans and the workers displaced in war industries when peace returns, but only a few have thought the matter through and developed a concrete program.

Most publicized of the few communities has been Albert Lea, Minn., which long ago drafted its plans and set up a $100,000 budget for community development that will provide jobs.

Another is El Paso, Ill., which through the leadership of the head of the town's hybrid seed corn industry, has organized the Veterans Industries corporation. The El Paso boosters propose to sell 1,000 shares of $100 preferred stock to businessmen and farmers and to offer one share of Class A stock of $100 par value to each serviceman who participates in the activities of the corporation. This group plans to establish a plant for manufacture of materials for the building industry, a woodworking shop, and concrete block factory.

Doubtless, some of the plans will run into snags. There even will be some failures, but out of the activity will probably develop some new industry that was not envisaged at first. The important thing is that these communities are buckling down and really trying to do something about the problems that face them. It is much more effective than merely waiting Micawber-like for something to turn up.

Marking Historic Spots

THE Upper Peninsula, in making its plans for attracting postwar tourist business, might give some thought soon to the matter of marking historic sites and other places of interest along the well-traveled highways.

Utah, Wyoming, New England, Arizona and other regions, which have been energetically bidding for tourists for some years, have developed distinctive markers, which have aroused favorable comments from travelers. Similar markers, giving a concise but interesting history of different communities, also would make a trip through the Upper Peninsula mean much more to the postwar tourist.

One of the primary requisites would be to have the markers somewhat uniform. The Upper Peninsula Development Bureau would be the ideal agency for carrying on such a project, with the cooperation of the local communities, the state highway department and other organizations. This is a matter that has been discussed for some years in the Upper Peninsula, and some work along this line already has been done. But, we are not yet doing as well as some of the other vacation regions.

For Summer Safety

SUMMER is the time for vacationing and outdoor enjoyment, but it is also a period when the season's pleasures are marred by accidents.

Since travel restrictions limit family trips and the home is the focal point of family activity for the summer, the National Safety Council has prepared the following 10 tips to housewives for diminishing hazards:

1. Store winter equipment safely—not on stairs of basement or attic.
2. Repair broken outdoor furniture, broken porch floors, or steps.
3. Check ropes or chains on swings and replace if defective.
4. Pick up all broken glass, old boards, rusty nails and debris in yard. Pay special attention to the sand pile.
5. Be sure window screens are in good condition (no broken frames or weak wire) and that they are fastened securely to protect children from falling out.
6. Make sure garden tools are picked up after each use. Put insecticides out of reach of children and carefully wash all vegetables and fruits which have been sprayed with chemicals.

7. If you put down summer throw rugs, sew fruit jar rubbers on under side or use non-skid pads beneath them.

8. Have guards for all electric fans and place out of reach of children.

9. Be sure kitchen curtains are tied so they do not blow over stove.

10. If you put up food, follow canning directions carefully. Do not use oven canning method!

Veterans and Quacks

THE Army newspaper Stars and Stripes has taken an editorial crack at the "psychoneurosis fad." While admitting the value of reputable psychiatrists in authentic mental illness, it claims that every screwball with thick lenses and a long haircut is setting up shop as an expert on the returning veteran.

The service paper's accusations may be a bit sweeping, but its warning is timely. Somehow the feeling has grown up that every man who has seen combat is verging on psychoneurosis. Families have been warned to watch for symptoms in returned veterans. All this might well invite a boom in postwar psychiatric quackery.

Certainly most young men are going to be affected by exposure to the grim business of killing. Many are going to be noticeably changed. But all the changes will not be pathological.

If families will avoid the preconceived suspicion that their returning serviceman is neurotic simply because he has been in combat, we doubt that the psychiatric quacks will get very fat.

DON'T CHISEL ON SUGAR

(Muskegon Chronicle)

Regulations have been tightened and considerable additional information must be provided in making applications for canning sugar, but OPA officials mostly must trust to the honesty of the people.

The applicant must state the amount of sugar used in canning in 1944 and also the amount of canning expected to be done this year. On that information the ration boards will determine the amount of sugar to be allowed, the maximum being twenty pounds to a person and one hundred and sixty pounds to a family.

It is known that thousands of families obtained canning sugar in 1944, but did not canning. They simply obtained canning sugar to add to their supply for ordinary purposes.

Outside of canning sugar every person is supposed to share alike under sugar rationing. Those who obtain sugar for canning and do none are cheating. That has serious results, as was shown a year ago when the sugar supplies of the country were depleted just at the height of the canning season for peaches and other fruits.

Sugar intended for canning should be used for that purpose.

Well, it looks like the race horses are going to be among the first to get their jobs back. Peace in Europe has lifted the ban on horse racing.

I'll bet those horses were plenty nervous... what with their jobs gone, and the meat shortage. But those thoroughbreds may find racing a little more strenuous than in the past. With the gas and tire shortage still on, they may have to carry the fans to the track before they can run for them. Of course they can let the fans walk home... they're used to that.

Bing Crosby got a telegram saying that the government would now let his horses run... it gave Bing a lot of respect for the government because that's more than he's ever been able to get them to do.

WORDS TO WATCH

Overheard at a lecture: "... from the records of hundreds of children."

The "r" of such words as hundred, children, apron, veteran, kindred, etc., is often transposed, making the words sound like "hunderd, chid-dern, a-pern, vet-ern, kin-derd."

On the other hand, words like modern, lantern, pattern, are sometimes heard as "mod-ren, lan-tren, pat-tren."

When the loving "r" is kept in its proper place, the words will be properly pronounced thus: hun-dred, chil-dren, ay-prun, vet-er-un, kin-dred, modern, lantern, pat-ern.

Here are two words that swap vowel sounds: catcher and wrestler. We should be sure to avoid "ketch-er" and "rass-ler." Keep the two vowels where they belong, and say: katch-er and res-sler.

The words athlete and athletic are mispronounced by a surprising number of people, including most athletes and those who write and broadcast about them. An intrusive "a," for some reason that eludes

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Put it down in your book to watch Edwin W. Pauley, who is leaving for Moscow to be American member of the Allied Reparations Commission.

Pauley, a big, ham-fisted California who has made a fortune in oil during the past 15 years, is not one to keep opportunity waiting on his doorstep. In fact, the first timid rap and Pauley is out of the door like Flash Gordon.

Treasurer of the Democratic National committee since May, 1942, Pauley was in with Democratic Chairman Robert Hannegan on the play that put over Harry Truman as the vice presidential candidate at the convention last summer. He and Hannegan have become close friends, and between them there is complete loyalty.

Hannegan resented the attacks on Pauley that have appeared since his appointment as reparations commissioner, coupled with reports that Pauley is seeking a higher office. These reports, Hannegan believes, have been inspired by Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes.

Between Pauley and Ickes a kind of feud has gone on for some time. It arose over the question of off-shore oil. As an independent oil operator, Pauley has an interest in oil off the California coast. When Ickes, who is federal oil administrator, was in California during the campaign last fall, he told Pauley that the federal government had a definite concern with off-shore oil and intended to protect the public interest.

"That issue has been decided 48 times by the supreme court," Pauley said, "Now what are you stirring it up all over again for? You will just make it harder for the independents to operate."

Back in Washington, Ickes dropped word where it would have loudest repercussions that Pauley had hinted of generous campaign contributions conditional on a forgetful attitude about off-shore oil. This, Pauley vehemently denies. He says he has never sought campaign contributions with any strings tied to them.

He does not deny that he is a good money raiser, and the condition of the Democratic treasury is proof of that. He has directed money drives for United China relief and for other good works.

Pauley will sit down in Moscow opposite a Russian diplomat whom he knows from prior negotiations. This is Ivan Maisky who, according to latest reports, will be Soviet member of the Reparations Commission. In 1941, President Roosevelt sent Pauley to Europe to serve as liaison with Great Britain on the use of oil tankers, which were then critically needed by the beleaguered British.

In London Pauley met Maisky, and the two thrashed out preliminary details of a negotiation which eventually took the American to Moscow. He speaks with pride of his part in working out a tanker deal that benefitted both Britain and Russia. British member of the Reparations Commission, incidentally, will be Sir Arthur Salter, authority on shipping and economist of distinction.

—ACCUMULATED FORTUNE—

In his new assignment, Pauley wants to emphasize his background in academic economics, playing down his success in the practical field which has enabled him to put together a fortune estimated at $20,000,000. His official biography, put out by the White House, shows he received an M. S. degree at the University of California for post-graduate work in the College of Commerce and Business Administration. Later he taught economics at the University.

Pauley has been a regent of the University of California since 1939 and is close to Robert G. Sproul, president of the university. He has persuaded Sproul to accompany him on his mission to Moscow.

What Pauley hopes to do is to lay down the general groundwork of an understanding on reparations between the three Allies. The total to be divided will not in any event be large, and half of whatever it is will in all probability go to Russia. The execution of the agreement, after it is reached, he expects to leave to others. If it works out as he hopes, Pauley would be back in two or three months. About his ambitions after that, he is reticent. But he certainly has ambitions and they are not likely to be modest.

Ickes is fearful that Pauley wants his job, which is apparently not true. There have been reports that Pauley would like to be Secretary of the Treasury. You can be certain that a mission to Moscow will not satisfy this 42-year-old Californian-by-adoption. He comes originally out of Indiana, where they learn the practical whogets-what of politics in infancy.

me, creeps into the words, thus: "ath-a-lete, ath-a-let-ic." Indeed, so prevalent are the mispronunciations that it is not uncommon to see the words in print as "athalete, athaletic."

A similar intrusive "a" is heard among church choristers, many of whom refer to the "offer-a-tory." But there is no "a" in the word.

As for "pre-cen-ta-tive," the erroneous "ta" syllable is as firmly entrenched as that stubborn old "cow" in "Moscow."

Careful speakers will want to say:

The Next Enemy to Be Overpowered

Good Morning!

By The Bugler

AS SHE IS WRITTEN—English as she is spoke is often amusing, but English as she is written in many newspapers is equally ludicrous.

Newspaper editors in general have a high regard for the written word. Even if the underlings of the staff, and this includes the rural correspondents, make mistakes in writing the news, the editor is supposed to trap the offending errors with his eagle eye and kill them with a blue pencil.

Dunathan Most newspaper writing is straight reporting. Amateurish efforts at "fine writing" stick out like sore thumbs.

Over a period of several weeks the Bugler has collected some of the most amusing examples of goshawful writing as presented in an Upper Peninsula weekly. This does not mean that this particular weekly is better or worse than its sister papers, for examples of bad writing can be found in every newspaper from the smallest weekly to the biggest daily.

But your mental funnybone may be tickled by these, which is excuse enough for their use. So here goes.

"City Happenings — A regular meeting is to be held next Tuesday evening at 8 in the community building. Plan to be there."

Out of curiosity? And one correspondent, apparently touched by the approach of spring, has this to write about the weather:

"Miss Ruth Simon tells in a letter that the streets of Akron have not been cleared of ice and snow for 59 days and our letters from Detroit friends tell us about the rigid weather down there, but the heavy weight and pressure of the atmosphere and unsteadiness is the difficulty while light weight and comparative steadiness is our good fortune. Thermometers are not the only things to be considered in this matter, but the barometers as well."

And again: "In thirteen days from the date of this paper spring will be here, according to the almanac sages who have given this fablesome youth a Latin name which is vernal equinox."

Leaving the frolicsome weather, this same writer turns to another subject, reporting on the Red Cross drive.

"Mrs. Isabella Shafu has completed her work for the Red Cross and succeeded in collecting more than expected, namely, two hundred and fifty-five dollars and fifty cents, whereas the quota for the township was four hundred dollars. Congratulations!"

For what? In another section of the same paper one of the reporters concludes a story of a PTA meeting with this gem:

"The band were in fine fettle and performed brilliantly."

Aside from the grammar, Webster defines "fettle" as "In repair; to work industriously; fuss."

A note of mystery is injected into the following news item by the addition of the last sentence:

"Many will recall seeing a display in the Rexall drug store window relative to the March of Dimes. It was gotten up by Miss Stella King, and was both simple and effective. Francis Therrien was the proud possessor of the ham."

Reports on comings and goings need never be monotonous if you follow the technique of the writer of the following:

"Mrs. Verne Streeter, nee Helen Ehle, writes us from Lansing that her daughter, Jean, has recovered from scarlet fever at the hospital and returned home and she ex-

And again: "Mr. and Mrs. William Nye returned from their extended visit of friends in Detroit, including Mrs. Gust F. Engberg, William E. McFadden and family, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Mitchell, nee Anna Johnson and the sisters of Bill. They were extremely busy visiting the relatives on both sides of the house."

Stepping from the busy duplex housing relatives of these good people, we find the following typographical error in a filler: "Uncle Sam is confronted with another great triangle problem. I is the shortest age of baby's diapers."

And an expert in the gentle art of "padding" a news item gives us this example:

"Our hunters and trappers headed by such an expert as Mr. Mortenson, are still voicing their satisfaction and elation about bagging the wild animals whose fur bring the best rewards and we congratulate these artisans who are diligently scouring the dense forests for the animals."

Hell hath no fury like a diner scorned, as witness the following:

"Charles Linderman, who was the chairman of the 6th war loan in this area, attended, by invitation of the new county chairman for the 7th war loan, a dinner-meeting given at the Hotel Ojibwa Friday, March 30. To quote Mr. Linderman: 'The dinner turned out to be a Dutch treat. The principal speaker Frank Isbey, state loan chairman, was not there. He probably did not like a Dutch treat. Alberta Waybrant attended the dinner with Mr. Linderman as a reward for being the best bond collector of the 6th war loan. Though it was a cheap affair, yet it was a pleasant and interesting meeting. It was announced the 7th war loan would get under way May 14. A new system will be used in selling bonds. Instead of the pledge system it will be on a cash basis. Money to be paid on the spot and a receipt issued by the solicitor. The bond will be mailed or delivered in person by the solicitor?'"

Clint Dunathan.

The Lyons Den

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK—Many months ago a group of Americans contributed to a fund which was to be used to buy boats, trucks and other equipment in neutral countries, for the purpose of releasing and transporting some prize prisoners in Germany to safety. During the course of this campaign word was received that Leon Blum could be released for the equivalent of $50,000. . . . The negotiations were kept open, to bargain for time, when suddenly the word came: "Never mind. Blum will be freed without any money being paid."

That was only a few weeks ago, and the negotiators still are puzzled why his captors decided to free Blum without ransom.

THE MEAD WAR Investigating Committee will send a subcommittee to Europe, to check on the disposition of American supplies and surplus. The Ind. Citizens Comm. will give a dinner at the Astor May 20. Its slogan is "Broadway United for Dumbarton Oaks."

ON THE STEPS behind the velvet curtain on the U. S. Supreme Court bench the page boys usually have time to read books, newspapers, comics, etc., because of the infrequency with which they are called. One of the Justices, however, always busies himself scribbling notes to his colleagues or to acquaintances in the courtroom, and these are dispatched by a page boy who responds to his ring and who became annoyed at these interruptions. . . . The page boy found a solution when he learned the secret of static electricity. When the Justice rings for him he first shuffles his feet on the thick carpet, and when he reaches out to receive the paper, he always gives the Justice an electric shock.

MAYOR LAGUARDIA had a reception at City Hall yesterday for Sir Walter Citrine, the British labor leader. Fiorello invited New York's labor leaders to meet him. You know the difference, don't you, darling?" . . . Miss Bankhead, incidentally, was in the Stork Club last night where she was interviewed by a dozen reporters about the lifting of the midnight curfew. She was nervous after the interview. "I suffer less when it's only the Times and the Herald Tribune," she confessed, "because then I know that if I should say 'Godammit,' they would report that I had said 'Good Gracious!'"

"But Professor," one of the art students asked, "where do you find Jupiter?" "Jupiter walks in the streets," Degas told them, "and the REAL artists meet him."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

(Col. R. S. Allen now on active service.)

Washington—Back in 1937-38, Admiral William Leahy, now chief of staff to the White House, devised a strategy against Japan, which, if put into effect, might have prevented Pearl Harbor and even World War II.

Today, the old Leahy strategy is being dusted off, especially on Capitol Hill, as the best means of finishing the war with Japan. It would save thousands of American lives, its proponents claim, and would serve as an example of how wars can be won — or prevented — by naval blockade.

The proposals made by Admiral Leahy constitute one of the most important and unwritten chapters in the history of what happened shortly before the war began. Leahy, then chief of naval operations and one of the best strategists the navy has seen in years, saw all too clearly what was coming both in Europe and Asia. At that time, 1937, Japan had just begun her full-scale invasion of China, and it was Leahy's idea to make an example of Nippon which would show Hitler and Mussolini—then feeling their oats—that the United States meant business and would stand four-square behind the peace machinery of the world.

Therefore, he proposed to Roosevelt a naval blockade of Japan in cooperation with the British fleet, using the peace machinery of the League of Nations and the nine-power pact which guarantees the sovereignty of China.

Leahy argued that by keeping the U. S. navy in the Philippines and the British fleet at Singapore, we could cut off all oil, scrap iron, copper, cotton and other materials from Japan. Without these, he argued, the Japanese war machine would be powerless and would fold up in six months. Leahy figured that the United States would lose its gunboats on the Yangtze river, but that aside from this the main U. S. fleet would not have to fire a single shot.

—BRITISH START BLOCKADE—

President Roosevelt agreed. So did the British. And in the late summer of 1937, the British actually detailed six battleships, twelve cruisers and twenty destroyers to leave British home waters for Singapore. Just at that moment, however, the Axis capitals apparently got wind of what was happening, and Mussolini started his unofficial submarine campaign off the coast of Spain which detained the British fleet at Gibraltar.

A couple of months later, however, Roosevelt revived the idea and sent Norman Davis, late head of the Red Cross, to Brussels to a meeting of the nine-power pact signatories called to protect China from Japan. In the interim, Roosevelt had delivered his famous Chicago quarantine speech, warning that the United States might have to help put a quarantine around an aggressor nation. This was part of the build-up for Admiral Leahy's plan to quarantine Japan.

However, the Brussels conference fizzled—largely because of sabotage by the state department in Washington. Norman Davis found every move he made undermined by the career diplomats in Washington, some of them quite frankly believing that it was best to give the Axis more rope. (It is this same group which now believes Germany should be built up as a buffer state against Russia.)

Part of Norman Davis' trouble was also the isolationist press, led by the Chicago Tribune and the New York News, which kept hammering away at the idea that Roosevelt was trying to get us into war. (After Pearl Harbor, they never remembered Roosevelt's efforts to head off war and their own sabotage of his efforts.)

—JAPAN CAN BE STARVED—

But beginning with V-E day last week, the possibility of blockading Japan for the first time since 1939 was completely reversed. Since V-E day, the British fleet is entirely free to operate in the Pacific. So are Russian submarines. So is the whole might of the U. S. navy, now no longer needed to watch for submarines in the Caribbean or the Atlantic.

Today it is possible to throw up such a naval blockade around the main Jap islands, augmented by air patrols, that hardly a ton of raw materials could reach Jap war factories. The Dutch East Indies, with their rubber and oil, could be completely cut off; also Singapore and the Malay states. Also the mainland of China.

Furthermore, Japan has to import part of her food to live. In fact Japan's main islands are very much like the British Isles. They simply cannot live isolated. Without food from the United States, the British Isles would have gone under in this war, and

Pike Lakes Open

Today, another of the forbidden areas is opened to fishermen, the pike lakes, and Michigan has over 200 of them. That means northern pike and walleyed pike can now be taken in all waters except Great Lakes and connecting waters and the bass lakes. The pike opening for Great Lakes waters is next Monday and for bass lakes is June 25.

The walleyes have for many years been a prime favorite with Upper Peninsula anglers but the northern pike, once scorned by the sports fisherman, has been growing in popularity so rapidly in recent years that it has already passed many of the old-time favorites. The northern has outnumbered all other species in entries in the Daily Press Fishing contest in nearly every year.

In the eight previous years of the contest the winning northern has ranged from 11½ pounds to 26½ pounds and surprisingly enough the inland lakes have produced the majority of the big fish. Walleyes, usually second in popularity as judged by number of contest entries have run from eight pounds to 12 pounds for the winners. Most of the walleye winners have come from Great Lakes waters, with Little Bay de Noc leading the way.

The northern's great size and fairly good game qualities, coupled with the comparative ease with which it is hooked account for the rise in its popularity. It is a voracious feeder, largely on other fishes, sometimes on its own kind. Large quantities of perch and suckers, insects, and even large leeches form a part of its diet. It is sometimes caught by still-fishing when live minnows are used for bait. However trolling and casting, with plugs, spoons or live minnows as bait, are the most successful methods of fishing for the big fellow.

In Europe it has been more highly esteemed than with us. Old Ike Walton, in his famous book, devotes an entire chapter to it, concluding with directions how to "roast him when he is caught," and declaring that "when prepared he is 'choicely good'—too good for any but anglers and honest men."

Fishing regulations for pike, both northern and walleyes, are unchanged from last year. The minimum size is 14 inches and the creel limit is five. On inland waters that five limit is the aggregate limit, not the limit of each species. In other words, the pike fishermen are limited to five fish in a day.

Nearby pike lakes include the following: Delta-Camel, Upper Camel, Lower Camel, (Eighteen mile), Chicago, Crane, Moss, Pine, Pole, Little Pole, Round and Sterns or Stevens lakes.

Schoolcraft-Beaton, Carpenter, Crooked, Cusino (Round), Driggs, Gulliver, Herman's, Indian, Kennedy, Klondike, Mahoney, McDonald, Mud, Ross, Snyder, Stanley, Thunder and Wolf lakes.

Easily Identified

Pickeral, northern pike and muskellunge are often confused by some anglers but a little examination should make the identification of each easy. The thing to remember is that the most easily recognizable differences are the presence or absence of scales on the cheeks and gill covers. Color and shape are not accurate guides.

The pickeral has both cheeks and gill covers complete covered with scales. Northern pike have scaled cheeks but the gill covers have the lower half bare of scales. Muskies have scales on the upper

Lt. Foster Describes London In Springtime

BY LT. ROBERT D. FOSTER

London, England.—The sun beats down on the marble-like streets, young girls, in cool summer frocks, walk gaily down the boulevards, and the immortal words of Browning dance about in the back of your head—"Ah to be in England, now that spring is here again!" Across the way, in St. James park, uniforms of every nation brighten the surroundings. In fifteen minutes you can see men and women in the uniform of the Royal Navy, the Royal Air Force, the U. S. Army and Air Force, the Norwegian Air Corps, the Norwegian Marine Corps, the Dutch, the Czechs, the French, and even the colorful but immaculate Red Army and Navy.

Spring is here—the happiest spring in years—rockets, flying bombs and enemy raiders have seemingly gone, the news from the fronts in Germany is wonderful, the blackout has been lifted, and rumors of unconditional surrender fill the tense atmosphere.

Crowds Jam Streets
Crowds jam Piccadilly, Oxford street, Regent street, Whitehall the Strand, and the little taxis like of which will be found nowhere else in the world, honk their little "hooters" while their colorful drivers pass a pleasant remark to the inevitable Bobby on the intersection.

My taxi driver, on this particular spring day, slid back the glass panel and said cheerily "It's like the old days, it is; seems like a dream, it does." Here was the thought in every Londoner's mind, expressed by a man . . . a man, from that select group of people that know London best . . . these

PRISONER SON WRITES MOTHER

Card Written February
First Word From
Clair Cook

Mrs. Joseph N. Raiche has received a postcard from her son, Pvt. Clair D. Cook, U. S. Army, who has been a prisoner of war in Germany. The card was dated or postmarked Feb. 26, 1945.

It read:

"Dearest Mom and All:
"Well I'm all in one piece and well. I'll be home before you know it. Please don't worry about me for everything is okay. Have that beer on ice for me when I get there eh? Well, how is everything there to home—just fine I hope. Better close now. All my love.
"Bud."

Pvt. Cook has been listed as missing in action since Dec. 22, 1944. Several months ago a propaganda broadcast from Germany revealed him to be a prisoner of war. However, official notice had not been forthcoming from the War Department.

According to the card received by Mrs. Raiche, Pvt. Cook was in Stalag 4-B. Undoubtedly prisoners in this camp have already been liberated. However, the card postmarked in February has been the only message from the youth since December.

Another Step Nearer Victory

We're thankful for V-E Day, mindful of the sacrifices our boys have made to win it, and of our own duty toward a peacetime world.

The termination of hostilities in Europe has brought renewed hope to all of us. Armed with new courage, we now forge ahead on the final job leading to Victory. We of The Journal look forward keenly to that day which will permit us to resume our full and unrestricted service to you.

Wartime limitations on use of newsprint paper forced The Journal to withdraw newspaper service from thousands of readers. We have regretted this deeply.

The loyalty of our readers who have accepted the shortage of Journals as well as other war-scarce articles is appreciated. If you have been unable to buy The Journal, you may be sure that as soon as restrictions on paper are lifted, we shall speedily restore dependable and complete newspaper service to your community.

Communication

Daily Press, Manistique, Mich.
Dear Sir:
In reply to your question in today's issue of the Press "What's French for 'Jack'?" I will tell you. "Valet" pronounced "valey"—the "t" is silent.

My hobby is collecting playing cards, entire decks. I began this collection several years ago when a friend brought me a deck of playing cards from France and one from Germany.

Later, I received decks of cards from other friends who went abroad, including poker cards from France, a deck from Luxembourg, and one from Italy. I also received cards from several states of the union and Canada, and two decks from the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago in 1933. My collection includes one round deck; these are a bit difficult to play with at first; but after playing three or four hands, the difficulty is overcome.

The Italian cards are three inches long and less than two inches wide, the joker is a picture of a large eagle and a medallion inscribed "Regno D'Italia Lire Tre". There are thirteen face cards, no two alike. One French deck contains four suits of eight cards each. The jack, queen and king are marked R for Roi; D for Dame, and V for Valet, in addition to this, the king is marked "Cesar," the queen "Rachel" and the jack "Hector." The other French deck is unusually colorful, the back of the cards being a replica of old fashioned plaid gingham.

The Canadian deck contains pictures (on the face of the cards) of the Parliament Building in Ottawa, Castle Mountain in Banff, Alberta, Chateau Frontenac, Quebec, scenes in New Brunswick, Calgary, Nova Scotia, etc.

The California cards represent an old Franciscan Mission, the Texas deck, the Alamo.

The German deck face cards are designated as Konig, under and Aber. The other deck cover reads "Vereingte Mimchener Spielkarten, Runde Ecken" (round corners).

The Pageant of Progress deck represents the streets of Shanghai, Skyride Tower, Adler Planetarium, General Motors, Night view, Spanish village and others. Looking through this deck is like retracing one's steps over the entire exposition grounds. Now that most of those buildings have been torn down these cards are a fine souvenir. Some of my United States playing cards have cotton harvest scenes, floral, Mexican and other designs too numerous to mention.

Yours truly,
Miss Adrienne Tousignant,
909 South Third Avenue,
Escanaba, Michigan.

MOTHER'S DAY GIFT
Marinette, Wis.—Mrs. Ben Holmes, 2430 Hall avenue, Sunday received the best Mother's day gift she could desire, short of both sons coming home from service.

It was a telegram from the war department which said her son, Cpl. William C. Holmes, who had been reported missing since February 7, is back with the American forces. He was a prisoner of the Germans, the telegram added and probably was released.

No word had been received since February 24 when the message came that Cpl. Holmes was missing.

ANCIENT BIBLE AIDS SERVICE

Rev. B. G. Wyma Used Bible More Than Century Old

"Mother's Bible," referred to so often in Mother's Day observances was emphasized with more than usual impressiveness at the services of the Free Methodist church last Sunday morning, for the book from which Rev. B. G. Wyma read his text was indeed a Mother's Bible—it was a book known to be at least 173 years old and the owner states that there is a likelihood that it is 250 years old.

The ancient book is the property of Mrs. Avis Schoon of North Fourth street. She retains it as a memento of her great grandmother who also prized it as an heirloom left her by elder members of her family.

The book is about eight inches long, six inches wide and by reason of the heaviness of the paper, more than usually thick. The printing is fine, but clear. In spite of ample evidence that the book was much read, it is still in a splendid state of preservation.

The cover is of heavy press board and is dark brown in color.

VET DISCHARGE FORMS MANY

County Clerk's Task In Recording Papers To Be Arduous

Recording of discharge papers by the county clerk, heretofore a matter left optional with the veteran will be required of veterans of World War II, and G. Leslie Bouschor, county clerk and registrar of deeds, whose duty it will be to look after this matter, expects to be kept unusually busy when the homecoming vets come in in droves.

There are sixteen different forms of discharge papers to take into consideration says Mr. Bouschor, and each type of discharge must have a corresponding form to fill out.

Filing discharge papers of World War I veterans was a simple matter, says Bouschor, because there was only one type of a discharge paper used. But this time is far different. Every so often the war department created a new and improved certificate and with each new paper came a different form to fill out.

Form No. 5355, one of the latest, is almost as complicated as a corporation income tax blank. In it every phase of the veterans' service—his term of service, pay, allotments to families and minute records of the veteran's war experience—are all recorded on the blank.

"It will mean the installation of a few more cabinets in the office," says Mr. Bouschor.

START REPAIR WORK ON M-94

Bad Spots On Highway To Be Re-Graded And Graveled

Although Highway M-94 will not be rebuilt until after the war, work is underway to remedy spots on the road which have been the chief source of complaint of recent years.

The P. L. Whitehead company, Pickford contractor, is placing gravel on the highway from Shingleton and ten miles south close to Struben, Harold Rich, county engineer reports.

Rich states that while the work is not new construction, there will be enough gravel laid to provide a 2 inch mat 18 feet wide. Minor grading is now being done to shape the road up and keep the water off.

In addition to the road work in this area, the C. C. Bridges company of Escanaba have a contract to put a one inch mat on existing gravel on the foot of Stony Cut hill to the Dodge Lake corner. The company will also place 6,150 tons of new gravel on gravelled portions of M-149.

The county road commission has just completed ditching and raising the grade on a half mile of M-149 north of the Thompson cemetery and is beginning to patch sections at Blaney. A seal coat will be laid in the Blaney section by June 1, and preparations are now being made to widen and seal coat the blacktop portion of M-149 including two gravelled curves.

Unfavorable weather conditions have delayed the application of blacktop to any highways in this area, Mr. Rich stated.

During 1944 Ringling Brothers Circus elephants drank 431,000 gallons of water, the big top traveled 8846 miles on 80 double-length steel railroad cars, and the animals ate 13,744 bushels of oats.

SINGLE SCORES PINCH RUNNER

New York Victory Over Chicago Marked By Four Home Runs

New York, May 15 (P)—Phil Weintraub's single to center in the tenth inning today scored pinch runner Leon Treadway with the big run of a 6-5 New York Giants victory over Chicago today in a game marked by four home runs.

Nap Reyes poked two into the stands, his first in the second frame off Bob Chipman for a commanding early lead, and his second in the last of the ninth off Hy Vandenberg. Reyes also added two singles. A three-run clout by Catcher Dewey Williams had given Chicago the lead for the first time in the top of the ninth inning.

Rookie Bill Emmerich, making his first appearance in a big league park, appeared on his way to a victorious debut going into the ninth with a 4-2 edge but after he walked Peanuts Lowrey and let Don Johnson single. Mel Ott lifted him for Bill Voiselle.

Voiselle finally caught up with his sixth straight victory, tops in the majors.

NINE FOR BROOKLYN
Brooklyn, May 14 (P)—Brooklyn swept to its ninth straight victory, the longest streak of the major league season, by downing Pittsburgh today, 4-1, on a neat seven-hit pitching performance by rookie righthander Leroy Pfund.

Pfund, a refugee from the St. Louis Cardinals chain gang, was making his first starting appearance after two relief roles and was never in serious trouble after a three-hit Pirate third frame that netted the only run.

Dixie Walker led the Brooks' six-blow attack on Preacher Roe with a triple, double and single, scoring twice.

Philadelphia, May 14 (P)—Melvin Bosser, 25-year old war veteran whose only previous experience in organized baseball was in Class "D" baseball, made his first major league start against the Phillies here today and pitched the Reds to a 5-4 victory to break Cincinnati's five game losing streak.

Bosser was wild. He walked 10 and was relieved in the eighth by Boom Boom Beck, but received credit for the victory.

The Reds won the game in the third when they bunched three hits off Vernon Kennedy to score 4 runs with the help of three Phil errors.

FINISH OF 100 YARD DASH—Curley, fleet footed Manistique sprinter, current upper peninsula champion, is shown here winning the 100 yard dash event in the Manistique invitational meet. Curley is in the fourth lane from the left. Second place winner is Shaw, Manistique, in No. 1 lane; Annatoyn, Soo, in fifth lane, was third; Dufresne, Escanaba, in No. 3 lane, was fourth, and Roberts, Negaunee, in No. 2 lane, was fifth.

PASSING THE BATON—The closeness of the half mile relay event at Manistique is evidenced by this picture, showing the passing of the batons on the final leg of the race. Soo, Escanaba and Negaunee teams are all virtually tied, with the Manistique team some distance behind. In the stretch drive, Manning, taking the baton from Schils in the middle lane, won for Escanaba, with Soo, second and Negaunee third.

Yanks Find Foe's Food Plenty Dull

Camp Lee, Va. (P)—A dish of dehydrated seaweed may be charlotte russe to a goldfish, but it's just so much straw to our fighting Americans.

These practical soldiers, nevertheless have included it in their diets, along with other captured Japanese food, because they know that each pound they put away saves just that much shipping space in Uncle Sam's ships.

When the enemy finds fighting too heavy and is forced to turn tail and flee from Allied guns he often leaves behind a goodly mess (and GIs do mean MESS) of food, many types of which now are on exhibit at Camp Lee's Army Service Forces training center.

Among Germany's erstwhile Army staples is shown "kaffee-satz mischung," or imitation coffee; hard tack, and a powdery mixture which turns into pudding when water is added.

Dried fish, rice flour, pressed plum solution for beverages, compressed fishbones, "tara kima," or codfish livers, and a coarse-grained green tea are among those foods taken over by American troops at former Japanese bases.

Before U. S. soldiers partake of the food the enemy couldn't take along it first must be properly identified by a medical officer and found uncontaminated.

Robert Utke of Marinette is serving on the same carrier.

During 1933 and 1934 more than 2,000,000 Americans moved from the city to the country.

Crisler Sees Great Sports Boom Ahead

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 14 (P)—Wolverine Athletic Director H. O. "Fritz" Crisler predicted the greatest boom in history after the war on his return today from a six weeks overseas tour for the army special services program.

The Michigan football coach based his forecast on the "increased sports-mindedness" among the G.I.s. He reported that the soldiers had shown widespread enthusiasm for the army's comprehensive sports setup and a keen interest in all sports events and sport news coming from the states.

Crisler visited army bases in the Panama Canal Zone a head of sports group which included Eddie LaFond, boxing coach at Catholic University, Dan Jesse, formerly with the Cleveland Indians baseball team, Emmet Stubben, quarterback for Missouri in 1925-26 and track and football coach at Southern Missouri Teachers college, and Riland Miller, basketball coach at Northwestern Teachers college.

The army sports program is a great thing for these kids," Crisler declared, in keeping alive the interest of young men whose college athletic careers were interrupted by entrance in the service.

It also gives the younger men who would not have had athletic opportunities otherwise a chance to compete sports and develops previously undiscovered talent, he said.

The soldiers were "tremendously interested" in the GI bill of rights and many of them will be coming to school under the bill and will continue athletics, Crisler asserted.

Interest in sports back home was so strong that the men would "stand in line for three hours and then watch seven straight hours of movies of the world series, football highlights, the NCAA track meet, the Louis-Conn fight and other sports events," according to the Wolverine coach.

At symposiums conducted by the sports clinic, the G.I.s questioned the sports panel about all-time sports records, predictions of favored teams in every sport and "everything from the Brooklyn basketball incident to football rule changes," Crisler asserted.

Tyrrell's 4:49 performance in the mile run was his best time this season, his coach, Bill Cook, revealed. He previously has run the mile in 4:52. Tyrrell was without strong competition in the event at Manistique and undoubtedly could have shaved off a few seconds if he had been pressed.

The Manistique lad is built nicely for a distance runner and runs with a rhythm of motion that is pretty to watch.

As early as 1633, apples were being cultivated close to what is now Annapolis Royal, Nova Scotia.

Slugging Underdog Basora Surprises Robinson In Draw

BY TED MEIER

Philadelphia, May 14 (P)—Jose Basora, a 7 to 1 underdog, scored a major boxing surprise tonight by hold Ray "Sugar" Robinson to a 10-round draw before a sell-out crowd of 14,653 at Convention Hall.

The vote of Referee Charlie Daggert decided the slugging match after the two Judges Harry Mack and Frank Knareborough split. Daggert gave each four rounds and called two even. Judge Laskey gave it to Basora 5 to 4 with one even while Judge Knareborough voted for Robinson 6 to 4. The Associated Press score card gave each five rounds.

It was the first draw on Robinson's record. The "uncrowned welterweight" champion previously had won 54 of 55 bouts with this only loss to Jake LaMotta.

WEATHER NIPS NINE CONTESTS

First Monday Game At Briggs Stadium Is Postponed

Detroit, May 14 (P)—For the ninth time this season, the Detroit Tigers were rebuffed today by the weatherman and were forced to postpone their experimental Monday home opener with the Philadelphia Athletics.

The game, which would have been the first Monday contest at Briggs Stadium this season, was rescheduled as part of a double-header Wednesday, leaving tomorrow's single game unchanged.

Frank (Stubby) Overmire, who had been slated to pitch today's game, was shoved back in the mound order to hurl one of the Wednesday games. Art Houtteman, 17-year-old rookie up from the Detroit sandlots, is scheduled to hurl the other, getting his first start of his major league career.

The nomination to hurl the opener tomorrow went to Hal Newhouser. Don Black was expected to be the Athletics' choice.

Horse Racing Resumed At Santa Anita Today; 20,000 Crowd Expected

Los Angeles, May 14 (P)—Horse racing returns to Santa Anita park tomorrow after a four-year wartime black out, with a throng of 20,000 or more expected to witness the opening card of a 40-day meeting.

The entries were announced today for the feature race, the $55,000 Anita Chiquita at six furlongs. They were Pukka Gin, Civil Code, Vain Prince, Rover, Gold Mike, Bullpen, First To Fight, Bizerte, Black Badge and Broadcloth.

Top weight of 118 pounds was assigned Civil Code, owned by a turfman long familiar at Santa Anita—Charles S. Howard, two-time winner of the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap. Vain Prince was weighted next at 114, with Broadcloth, Black Badge, Pukka Gin and First To Fight in at 112.

Civil Code, with Jockey Johnny Longden abroad, was regarded as the betting choice.

White Sox Baseman Leads Hit Parade

Chicago, May 14 (P)—Third baseman Tony Cuccinello of the Chicago White Sox today still led the American league hit parade despite a 28-point drop last week to .367.

Second-place Vern Stephens, St. Louis Browns' shortstop, also plummeted 25 points and continued to trail Cuccinello by six points with .361, according to official statistics compiled through Sunday's games.

Behind Cuccinello and Stephens, the junior circuit's leading batters were shuffled considerably. Outfielder George Case of Washington fell off two points to .337, but moved from fourth to third place.

Detroit's Ed Mayo skidded from third to fifth spot as his average shrank from .352 to an even .300. Nick Etten of New York held fourth place with .324, while one of four newcomers to the select top 10 swatters, George Kell of Philadelphia, seized fifth place with .314.

Al Benton of Detroit and Hank Borowy of New York continued to breeze along as the leading pitchers with 5-0 records. Another Tiger, Hal Newhouser, held onto the strikeout lead with 29.

In Memoriam

In sad and loving memory of my sister, Mary Jane Hilde, who passed away two years ago yesterday, May 14, 1943.

Gone is the face we loved so dear.
Silent is the voice we loved to hear;
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thought to reach.
Sweet to remember her who once was here,
And who, though absent, is just as dear.

Sadly missed by

RED CROSS AIDS WAR PRISONERS

Next Of Kin Also Helped Through Local Committee

O. V. Thatcher, prisoner of war chairman of the Delta County Chapter of the American Red Cross, presides at the meetings for the next of kin held monthly at the local Red Cross office. Twenty-eight persons attended the first meeting and the attendance gradually increased until it reached 45 at the last meeting.

These meetings provide the opportunity for the next of kin to get together and discuss the letters they have received, to exchange information concerning prisoners of war, to review the prisoners of war bulletins and to study the maps in which prison camps are located.

Since the prisoners of war is a branch of the home service, the volunteer corps plays an important part. When a serviceman is listed as missing in action or as a casualty of war, a letter is sent to the next of kin offering the sympathy and service of the Red Cross and is followed by the visit of a corps worker.

The local chapter has been informed that it is not possible for family to send message or inquiry to liberated prisoners of war who may already be enroute home so no purpose is served by asking the Red Cross or War Department to furnish additional information.

Liberated prisoners of war have priority for return to the United States and families will be notified in advance by the War Department of their arrival.

Mail to liberated civilian internees and officially reported prisoners of war in the Philippines should be addressed as follows:

Prisoners of War
Name of person (serial number if military)
American Red Cross
Civilian War Affairs Section
APO 442, care of Postmaster,
San Francisco, California

The following rules should be observed:

1—Mail may not go to a prisoner of war unless he has been officially reported as liberated.

2—Mail may go to civilian internees even though they have not been officially reported as liberated.

3—Postage is based on airmail rate applicable to overseas OPA; that is, six cents per one-half ounce. Letters will receive airmail treatment to destination.

One 25 word cable may be sent by the next of kin to officially reported liberated prisoners of war in the Philippines. The liberated prisoner's name and serial number with the message should be sent to:

The Adjutant General
Attention Casualty Branch
Room 3050 Munitions Bldg.
Washington, D. C.

Identification Card Given To Veterans

Veterans' Identification Cards, which immediately identify the veteran of World War II as a worker who is not only freed of all manpower regulations, but who is also entitled to preferential treatment in all United States Employment Service Offices, are being passed out to the boys who have returned from the war.

"The War Manpower Commission feels that every citizen owes an obligation to serve his government during the time of war. We also feel that the returning veteran has discharged that obligation, and discharged it well," Edward L. Cushman, State Director of the War Manpower Commission said.

"With this thought in mind, the War Manpower Commission has lifted all controls over Veterans of World War II, and possession of the USES Veteran's Identification Card not only will entitle him to "preferred" treatment in the USES offices, but it will also advise prospective employers that he may be hired without a statement of availability, without a referral card, and hired also without regard to the employer's manpower ceiling," Cushman said.

Peace And Foreign Policy Discussed By Dr. Current

The foreign policy of the United States and its conflict with the responsibilities in an organization for world security were described yesterday by Dr. Richard Current, professor of history at Northern Michigan College of Education, Marquette, to two Escanaba audiences.

At noon yesterday Dr. Current talked to a joint meeting of the Escanaba Rotary and Kiwanis clubs at the Delta hotel. Last night he was principal speaker at the Citizens Forum meeting in city hall.

The United States today "is at the crossroads of American foreign policy," Dr. Current declared. While the United States today is the most powerful country in the world it does not have the weight or influence it should have because it has few definite or clear-cut foreign policies, he said. For this reason the people of America should "think and come to conclusions" regarding coming policy decisions.

America's foreign policies of the past were described by Dr. Current as three in number:

1—Isolation from entangling political alliances in Europe.

2—The Monroe Doctrine, which means the U. S. would oppose any non-American interference in American affairs.

3—"The open door" policy in China, a policy which seeks to keep that country open for trade and development by all nations.

While there has been little actual isolation practiced by America, the term "isolation" has come to be used incorrectly against the aims of American isolationists, the speaker explained. America has participated culturally and in trade with the world at large. The policy to avoid entangling political alliances in Europe would have to be altered, however, if the U. S. participates in a United Nations plan. For membership in the world organization would mean that this country would consider it a matter of ours should peace be threatened anywhere in the world.

Under the Dumbarton Oaks plan for a world security organization the United States would no longer have a free hand in enforcing the Monroe Doctrine, Dr. Current pointed out.

Dr. Current also directed attention to one of the factors that brought the attack on Pearl Harbor and war with Japan. It was the U. S. "open door" policy in China, and the insistence by the Japs that they had their own "Monroe Doctrine" for China, as the U. S. has for America, and as Britain has for India, that resulted in Pearl Harbor.

He posed a question: Would the United States continue its open door policy for China should a Russian threat to China replace that of Japan?

The United Nations organization being planned at San Francisco is essentially a three-power alliance. "If the Big-Three can work together there is the hope for a world-wide collective security," Dr. Current said.

Yet to achieve such security it is necessary to change our ways of thinking and perhaps amend our constitution to give our representative on the security council power to enter into a declaration of war against aggressor nations. Congress alone now has power to declare war, the speaker pointed out.

The people of the United States must, if security through the world organization is to be achieved, change their attitudes toward Russia and Britain and replace distrust with "a high degree of tolerance and understanding"; and discard our present foreign policies, Dr. Current said.

At the Forum last night Charles Folio presided and Edward Stratton was moderator.

Iron County Mine Values Decreased

Iron River—Valuations of mines in Iron county are reduced over a half-million dollars this year, in the tentative allocations sent to township supervisors and city assessors by Frank G. Pardee, mine appraiser for the state tax commission, which will be here next Friday for the annual hearing. Tentative valuations are sent in advance of the hearing.

This loss is in contrast to the situation last year when Iron was the only county in the Upper Peninsula to show an increase.

On the east side, the Tobin was the only property to be increased in the tentative schedule, from $705,000 to $805,000. All others remain as last year, as follows:

Odgers, $6,000; Lawrence, $175,000; Monongahela, $147,000; Fortune Lake, $29,000; Richard, $15,000; Amasa-Porter, $25,000; Section 26, $88,000; Carpenter, $7,000; Genesee, $20,000; Bristol, $95,000; Youngstown, $200,000; Great Western, $79,000; and the Neely Exploration, $10,000.

Tentative valuations of two properties in Mastodon township were not available here yesterday. They are the Book mine, valued last year at $490,000, and the Judson group, $190,000.

The tentative schedule on the west side reveals aggregate reductions of $680,000, with the heaviest loss of $420,000 in Stambaugh city, where the Bengal property is now inactive. The loss in Iron

Outdoor Writers Boost Vacations For Service Men

Plans for enabling wounded veterans, recuperating at the Percy Jones hospital at Battle Creek, to enjoy fishing and other outdoor recreation in the northwoods, were endorsed at a meeting of the Michigan Outdoor Writers association held at Higgins Lake, near Roscommon, over the weekend.

Private cottage owners and resort operators will be asked to entertain the service men for brief periods. Free transportation from the hospital to the vacation spots will be furnished by members of the Civil Air Patrol. The plan will be extensively publicized by the outdoor writers. Those interested in extending vacation courtesies to the service men are asked to communicate with Kendrick Kimball of the Detroit News, president of the Michigan Outdoor Writers association.

About fifty persons attended the Higgins Lake meeting. Illustrated talks were given by Ben East, outdoor editor of the Booth newspapers, Jack Van Coevering, Detroit Free Press; George O'Neill, Detroit, Alaskan game hunter; and River township is $150,000; Bates township, $65,000, and Stambaugh township, $45,000.

Tom Kelly, Soil Conservation Service. One of the features of the meeting was a trip to Grousehaven, famous estate of the late Harry B. Jewett, Detroit automobile maker, which recently was taken over by the conservation department as a fish and game preserve. Grousehaven consists of 4300 acres of land in the Rifle river area.

Attending from the Upper Peninsula were C. Harold Earle of Hermansville and Wm. J. Duchaine of Escanaba.

Lift Wartime Lid On Weather Data

All wartime restrictions on weather information have been lifted in the Great Lakes region, H. L. Jacobson, district forecaster of the U. S. Weather Bureau office in Chicago, said while here yesterday on an official visit. Wind directions, barometer readings and other information denied the public for security reasons will now be made available to anyone on request.

In company with Henry Hathaway, Escanaba observer, Jacobson visited various industries in the area to learn of their weather service needs. Commercial fishermen and yachtsmen were interviewed in Escanaba and Menominee. A trip was also made to Fayette, where it is planned to establish a storm warning service.

Level Of Michigan Lake Above Normal

The level of Michigan lake is now 1.45 feet above normal level of the lake, Henry Hathaway, local meteorologist, reported yesterday. The lake level, however, is not as high as a year ago. The normal lake level is 578.5

above sea level. The present level is 579.95 and the highest last year was recorded July 10 when the level was 580.3 above sea level.

Frozen chicken a la king and creamed tuna fish are recent additions to the wartime list of quick frozen foods—handy for housewives in a hurry. They are point-free.

DOG EATING RED POINTS PUTS BITE ON WOMAN

Last week, Mrs. Ed Lane gave the dinner scraps to her dog, Rusty, and settled down with the paper. But not for long. There on the food page it said that housewives threw away thousands of red points because they did not save meat trimmings and plate scraps!

Now Mrs. Lane saves all fat scraps to be melted down and added to the salvage can. That way she gets more extra red points. Rusty is doing nicely on a leaner diet. He was too fat, anyway. And our country is getting more of the used fat it urgently needs for war- and home-front essentials.
